Sakan

Sakan is a real estate application designed to make finding and renting or buying apartments easier and more convenient. The app connects people looking for suitable housing with property owners, helping them find properties that match their needs, budget, and preferred location.

Sakan targets university students, individuals, and families by providing a simple way to explore available properties and communicate with property owners. The project will initially focus on Ismailia Governorate, with plans to expand to other Canal Governorates in the future.

The main goal of Sakan is to simplify the housing search process, save users time and effort, and make finding the right place easier and more accessible.
